Expenses and Travel Policy

Version 3.2 | Effective January 1 | Owner: People Operations

1. General Principles

Employees are reimbursed for reasonable, business-related expenses that are incurred on behalf of the company and that comply with this policy. Use your own judgment: spend the company's money as you would your own. Managers are responsible for reviewing and approving the expenses of their team.

2. Submitting Expense Reports

2.1 Deadlines

Submit expenses within 30 days of the date of purchase using the Expenses page of the HR portal. Reports submitted later than 60 days after the purchase date will not be reimbursed without VP approval.

2.2 Receipts

A receipt is required for every expense over 25 dollars. Photograph or scan the receipt and attach it to the line item. If a receipt is lost, complete the Missing Receipt declaration in the portal; no more than 3 may be used in a calendar year.

2.3 Reimbursement timing

Approved expenses are reimbursed by direct deposit with the next payroll run, provided they are approved before payroll closes. This normally takes 5 to 10 working days from approval.

3. Booking Business Travel

Book flights, hotels and rental cars through the company travel portal, travel.company.com, so that duty-of-care tracking and negotiated rates apply. Flights must be booked at least 14 days in advance where possible and in economy class. Flights longer than 6 hours may be booked in premium economy with manager approval.

Hotel rates are capped at 220 dollars per night, or 300 dollars per night in New York, San Francisco and Boston. Book a standard room; upgrades are personal expenses. Use a compact or mid-size rental car unless more than 3 people are traveling together.

4. Meals and Per Diem

While traveling overnight for business, employees receive a per diem of 75 dollars per day to cover meals, which is split as 15 dollars for breakfast, 20 dollars for lunch and 40 dollars for dinner. No receipts are needed for per diem, but meals provided by the company or a client during the day are deducted from that day's allowance. Alcohol is not reimbursable.

Team meals, client meals and working lunches are charged at actual cost with receipts and the names of attendees, up to 60 dollars per person.

5. Mileage and Local Transport

Use of a personal car for business is reimbursed at the current IRS standard mileage rate. Record the start and end addresses and total miles for each trip. Commuting between home and your regular office is not reimbursable. Taxis and ride-share are reimbursable when public transport is impractical; choose the standard service rather than premium options.

6. Home Office Stipend

Remote and hybrid employees receive a one-time home office stipend of 500 dollars to buy furniture and equipment such as a desk, chair, monitor stand or keyboard. Claim it in the first 90 days of employment under the category Home Office, with receipts. Items bought with the stipend belong to the employee.

Internet costs are reimbursed at 40 dollars per month for fully remote employees. Hardware such as laptops, monitors and headsets is provided by IT and is not part of the stipend.

7. Non-reimbursable Expenses

The following are not reimbursed: fines and parking tickets, personal entertainment, hotel minibar and movies, spouse or family travel, laundry for trips of fewer than 5 nights, and any purchase that has already been paid for by the company card. Using a company card for personal items is a policy violation and must be repaid within 7 days.
